THE STARTER MAKES A MESS OF IT.

THE NAVESINK HANDICAP SETTLED WHEN TRE FLAG FELL.

the first time this year the race-goers at Monmouth Park had just cause for serious dissatisfaction, and Mr. Caldwell, the starter, whose work hitherto has erved the highest praise, was yesterday an utter lure. His start in the Navesink Handicap, at a mile and a half, was of the worst possible sort. Of course Firenzi was a great favorite, as she deserved to on her previous running, but Mr. Caldwell dropped ith Connemara so far in front that neither Firenzi, Belvidere nor Eurus ever had the slightest This was simple unpardonable. At a mile and a half it ought always be easy to secure at least lerable start, and Mr. Caldwell might have known that the amount of money put on the Haggin filly was so great that it was his clear duty to see that she was shut out of the race when the signal was given A starter who has done so much good work may deserve some indulgence for mistakes, but not only was start for the Optional Stakes objectionable, but that for the Trenton was bad, and the signal for the avesink could by no means be overlooked or excused. There was no occasion for excessive hurry in the Navesink and no reason for negligent or careless work. not easy to understand how a man of so much experience, so much ability and many successes on the racecourse could by any assibility send off such a field scattered over so great distance, with no conceivable opportunity for the orite to win. Firenzi carried 121 pounds, Connemara had 100 pounds in the saddle. Nothing could ossibly be plainer in racing than that with twentypounds difference between the two fillies the topweight and the favorite should have a fair chance at But neither Firenzi, Belvidere nor Eurus ever had the slightest claim on the race when the flag dropped. They were absolutely shut out by the reckabuse of the powers of the starter. Mr. Withers and the other judges made some investigation after the race and heard Mr. Caldwell's explanation. It was in no way satisfactory. No matter how much good work a man may have done in the past, such a retched piece of bungling as this cannot be explained away.

The air was hot, but the attendance was good, among those present being D. D. Withers, J. Galway, Colonel Clarence McDowell, Captain S. S. Brown, William Goadby, H. O. Barnard, Major Doswell, V. K. evenson, Colonel William L. Brown, H. French, Frederick Gehhard, Porter Ashe, District-Attorney Walker, General McMahon, General Pryor, and others.

Porter Ashe's Geraldine was a great favorite for the first race, but Pulsifer's Grimaldi showed unexed speed, and won easily in the startling time of 1:13 3-4, the best record ever made at Monmouth Park. rimaldi carried 112 pounds, and this was really a remarkable performance. There was a long delay at the start, and the signal was given to a straggling rush. Geraldine did not run up to expectation, nor did many of the horses in the race. Britannic was off first and led during a large part of the run, but Grimaldi came with a dash at the end and won easily, with Shotover econd, Fitzroy a close third, the favorite, Geraldine,

There was so much uncertainty about the result of the Optional Stakes for two-year-olds, with selling allowances, that a number of entries were backed on most even terms. David Gideon's colt Groomsman on readily at the end, although he swerved badly in Mr. Belmont's filly Clarissa second place. That start was by no means one of Mr. Caldwell's successful efforts. It is much to be regretted in every way that the best of American starters uld have been suffering from severe ill-health and should have made a mess of the worst sort of almost every send-off of the day. A starter needs to have all his wits about him and to be in the best health; otherwise he is sure to make mistakes of a kind that out the most deplorable results.
invalid attempts to hold the about to hold the flag he is in the wrong. He should commit his duties to some one in perfect health and with perfect control

In the third race Captain Brown's Defaulter won neatly, with Little Jim second and Mr. Withers's Minority colt in third place. A tremendous plunge was made in the betting ring on the Minority colt, who was backed down from 5 to 2 to 5 to 5. He was ridden with little judgment by Palmer, who made no e of his well-known speed, but tried to make up for the deficiency in his own sagacity by the free use of the whip, first with the right hand, then with the left. The Minority colt does not fancy punishment, and the nore he was whipped the slower he went.

Then came the Navesick Handicap, one of the most deplorable catastrophes ever seen on a racecourse With a fair start Firenzi could not have lost this. She was well ridden, but when the starter flaunted that red flag in her face, the race was over. She was so far behind the wretched regue Connemara, that even The Bard could never have caught up. It is a well-known fact that the worst of rogues, if en an advantage of twenty or thirty lengths, with nothing near him or her, can keep on and just get home gainst the best of horses. This was the case with Connemara. She was an extremely tired filly at the end, but Mr. Caldwell presented her with the race when he dropped the flag. Mr. Galway and Mr. Haggin were ne dropped the hag. At Calway and all ranges were extremely angry over this piece of business, and there was a long and heated discussion after the race in regard to the demorits of the start. Euros was in especially bad temper, and tried to here into the fence hear? all the way. Hayward did everything that any pecially had temper, and tried to hore into the fence locally all the wir. Hayward did everything that any lock could do with him, but Eurus was not by any means on his best behavior, and got so angry with the miserable error made h; Mr. Cadwell that he would not make any effort to win. Shaner was ordered to lie lack with Belyidere at Firenzi's side. As they both were besten when the word was given, Belyidere had no chance. Senator Hearst's Surinum did not like a mile and a half. This coit may do something fairly brilliant yet at a mile or a mile and a forlong, but a mile and a half is too far for him. This is true also of The Bourhou and Boaz. Bunburg has come to the post in such wretched condition every time that he has run this year that no sensible man expected anything of him.

post in such wretched condition every time that he has run this year that no sensible man expected anything of him.

Porter Ashe thought that his filly Snowdrop would run well in the fifth race, but she acted badi; at the post, and was never dangerous after running half a mille. Joe Lee won easily, although an outsider in the betting, while Tellie Doe got second place. Goodloe showed some speed, but was not in the final struggle. Kalodlah, owing to abject failure in training, was never dangerous. Pierre Louilland, it's. Benedictin was well backed, but his condition was by no means satisfactory and he was never provinent. If the trainer of Banburg and Kaloolah cannot do better with them than he has been able to do so far this year, he ought to send them both to the Central Park and let them draw the goal-carriages on the Mall a few months, for that sort of occuration seems best suited for their present rate of speed.

The worst and most inexcusable of blunders was made with the programmes, which were full of errors of a sort to mislead the public. Not only did the programmes have the Trenton Stakes entries wrong, but they were so far out of the way in the selling race that the number of the winner. Geneadier, did not agree at all with the number which appeared on most of the official programmes, and a great many backers of Grewaller thought that Malaria had won the selling race. There is no excuse for such stupid bungling as this. At least the programmes at any respectable race track ought always to be correct.

Gladlator and the Lonely colt were withdrawn. Captain Brown declared to win with Brahmin. Marsac was favored with the lead, but it was of no use. Little Barefoot ran by him and cut out the work to the head of the homestretch, where she collapsed. Sweet Avon then held the lead for a few strides, but Groomsman and Clariesa headed her and singling each other cut, made a fighting finish. The issue seemed doubtful, until some one in the crowd shouled to Camp, "whip, you young devil, whip," Camp must have heard, for taking up the whip, he brought it down twice with all his might, the whip, he brought it down twice with all his might, and Groomsman with a splendid lesp crossed the line winner by a length, the same between second and third. It was charged that Groomsman fouled Clarissa by swerying against her, but the judges falled to see it and the horses were placed as they finished. No bid for the

TERRA COTTA FAILS TO MEET KINGSTON.

AT THE POST AND MANY SUSPENSIONS. Saratoga, July 26 (Special).—The racing promised to be so much above the ordinary to-day that the crowd was very large, and the grand stand fairly bloomed in rich and attractive tollets. It was not known to this and attractive tollets. It was not known to this same crowd that Terra Cotta was not to start against Kingston, and it was only surmised that the horses would be an hour at the post for the first race, as a half is generally hour at the post for the Brat race, as a man of the expected. The record was broken, however, for the youngsters were within a minute of one hour and a quaryoungsters were when a min a min ter cavorting and breaking at the post, and the spectators at length, resigned to their fate, talked of other matters as they got weary of watching the flag that was to fall, but was still proudly held aloft, as the minutes flew by. Some vigilant person shouted "they're off," and there was a great sigh of relief when it proved to be a fact. As there was a long delay in starting the fourth race, there there was a long delay in starting the fourth race, there were many empty seats when the last race was run, at 53:40 p. m. Perhaps Starter Wheatly got some satisfaction in suspending McCarthy for the season, Ossler for the meeting, Booth for a week, and Barnes, Winchell.

Armstrong and Harris for two days.

The long delays, coupled with the non-appearance of Terra Cotta in the California Stakes, produced too much chagrin and disappointment to make the sport enjoyable. With the Western crack out of the fray, Kingston had matters his own way, and won hard held by McLaughlin. Of course the many breaks and jerks changed the result of the Flash Stakes, Fides being much used up before of the Fish Stakes, Fides being fruch used up before the start was made. Oarsman repeated his surprise of Tuesday by beating Bessie June and Brown Duke, and again Messrs. Nolan and Woods and their Albany friends scooped in between $7,000 and $8,000 at 15 to 1. Oarsman is a very much improved colt and as the bookmakers have now a wholesome dread of him, his followers will have to be content with smaller odds hereafter. Badge, the favorite, won the fourth race, while & Canadian Banjo, with 25 to 1 against him, won the selling race and caused sadness to the "talent."

BROOKLYN WINS A GAME FROM KANSAS CITY AFTER ELEVEN INNINGS.

New-York club added another victory to its list by defeating the Philadelphia nine at the Polo Grounds esterday. It was not much of a contest, as the local nine aplayed its opponents at every point and won with ease fact, the real fight was over as soon as the first inning was played. Nearly 4,000 people were present. The fielding was excellent throughout, and several difficult throws and calches were made that aroused the 7-5. good-natured little Welch. Not a hit was made off his delivery until the ninth funing, and then only two were made. Ewing caught splendidly up to the sixth inning, when a foul tip bruised his ankle badly and he retred.

Fogarty made a wild throw home, and Ewing scored and Richardson and wild throw home, and Ewing scored and Richardson and Ward each moved up a base. Ward scored on a wild pitch by Casey, and a passed ball by Hollman allowed Ward to cross the home plate. Tiernan made the fourth run by hitting a home run to right field. He crossed the plate before the fielder had found the ball.

The local players scored one more run in the second inning, principally through battery blunders. Whitney made a safe drive, got to second on a passed ball, to third on Ewing's sacrifice, and crossed the rubber plate on

The Philadelphia players made their only rally in the ninth inning, and scoring a run escaped a shut out. In this inning, after Wood had been put out, Andrews made the first base hit for the visiting nine, sending the ball safely over Whitney's head into left field. Fogarty made a three-base hit in the same direction, and Andrews scored. Fogarty foolishly tried to make a home run of the drive, and was thrown out at the plate. Farrar struck out, and

The Kansas City and Brooklyn clubs played a hard fought battle at Washington Park yesterday. The home club wor, but it was only after an exciting contest of cleven innings. About 2,000 people went out to the Gowanus grounds to witness the game, and as the final result was uncertain throughout, the liveliest interest in the match was shown. The home players scored the winning run in the eleventh liming. Pinkney made a hit, and went to third on a hit by O'Brien. Caruthers went to first en called balls, and the bases were full. Smith then forced Pink-ney out at the home plate. A passed ball by Donohue let in O'Brien and Caruthers, and the game was won. The Poston, July 26.—The Bostons kept up their uninter-rupted course of defeat by a drubbing at the hands of the Washington club to-day. Donnelly tripped Nash in the eighth inning as he was running on Johnston's hit, and as a result Nash was put out at the plate. Umpire Kelly refused to allow the run to count, thus tising the score. The game was close and exciting throughout, but was won in the eighth inning on a single, a double and a base on called balls. The score was as follows:

Chicago, July 26.-About 8,000 people saw the Detroit nine defeat the Chicago team to-day in a spiendidly con-teated match. The "Wolverines" won the game by timely batting in the first two innings. Detroit took the lead in the first inning with one run. Brouthers hit safe to centre field and ran to second on an error by Sulliven. White made a hit to left field, and B-ourners scored. The Champions made two more runs in the third inning on an error by Ryan, a two-bagger by Rowe and sacrifices by Ganzel and White. The home nine made its only run in the second inning. Pfeffer made a hit, stole to second and red on Williamson's safe hit to left field. The score was as appended:

Tariff of 1883.-A document showing exactly what articles are protected, and what ones are not, 20 pages (each page 8 by 10 inches), clearly printed An elaborate statement of the present duties on every article of imported goods, together with an exhibit of the free list in full; the quantity of each article imported in 1883 and 1887; and the total amount of duty collected on each article. There is a brief introduction reciting all the tariff acts ever pased by Congress, the object and result of each one being explained. Also, a table of the total imports, year by year, from 1791 to 1887. This little pamphlet accurate, was prepared with great labor and expense, and will be required, continually, for reference, during the year. It shows how America flings her millions all over the world for foreign labor and products, even under the present tariff, and how importations were increased by the reductions of 1883. Price, single copies, 12 cents; 100 copies for $5; 1,000 copies for $70.
